FRIDAY, AUGUST 1, 1902

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We look to the friends of the Ledger to keep us posted concerning events of public interest happening in any part of the county. Our regular correspondents will be furnished with writing material and stamps for this purpose. Births, deaths, marriages, accidents, amusements, mining and other industrial progress, social topics, new buildings, persons leaving or coming into the county are always acceptable. Give details of important items. Matter in row how a shape. Avoid personal remarks that might give offense. Visitors between towns in the county need not be mentioned, but visits from or to places beyond the county may be recorded.

COUNTY POLITICS.

Faucity of Candidates—Those Mentioned for the Various Offices.

Candidates for local offices are few. The prospect is slow for any contest one either side for nomination for more than on or two positions. The nominating conventions are less than a month away, and still aspirants for positions are not tumbling over themselves in their anxiety to get in line for the fat berths the voters of Amador county are to dispense in November. This is remarkable considering that four years is now the term, which is tantamount to a material increase of salary as compared with the old two-year term system. Is it that the elections being farther apart, citizens show a growing reluctance to engage in the fascinating pursuit of seeking political office. Or is it the heavy expense that is generally deemed to be inseparable from office seeking? Whatever be the cause, it is a matter for serious and careful investigation that there is a growing indisposition on the part of many worthy citizens to accept the risk and expense of running for positions within the gift of the people.

For Superior Judge, the present incumbent, R. C. Rust, aspires for re-election on the democratic side. He has held the office eight years, during which time he has never had an opponent, the republicans allowing the office to go by default because of the lack of available material. Before entering upon his career of judge, R. C. Rust served the county six years as district attorney, during that period also he never had a serious opponent. The last time he ran for district attorney he was opposed by Frank Rossi, a young law student fresh from college, who came within a few votes of defeating him at the polls. This year the superior judgeship is likely to be earnestly contested by F. L. Stewart on the republican ticket. Mr. Stewart is present assemblyman for this district. He made a phenomenal run for the legislature two years ago, surprising party friends and opponents alike by defeating Dr. A. L. Adams, who was looked upon as a sure winner. His record as a legislator has added to his popularity, as he met every issue, ably and conscientiously. No man in the assembly served his constituents more honestly and satisfactorily than F. L. Stewart. For position of superior judge he is eminently qualified by nature and education.

For Sheriff, U. S. Gregory, present incumbent, wants to succeed himself and has publicly announced his intention to seek re-nomination on the democratic ticket. He has held this office for ten consecutive years, and during this long career the salary, together with auxiliary pipes to the county treasury, has been paid out until the emoluments from all sources reach the snug sum of $8000 per year. That such a plum is deemed worth contending for is not surprising. Lately there have been misty rumors afloat that his nomination is likely to be contested by A. B. McLaughlin, present supervisor in township three. The opposition seems to be without organization at present, and whether it will develop formidable strength is problematical. On the republican side several competent men have been mentioned. T. K. Norman declines the honor. The right man to wrest this—the fattest of all county offices from the grasp of the "terrified"—will no doubt turn up at the proper time.

C. L. Culbert, present county clerk and auditor, is looking for re-election. He has held the seat for nine years, and would like to hold it for four years more. W. H. Greenhagh has been suggested on the republican ticket. He would unquestionably develop strength enough to win this prize, and it is hoped he can be prevailed upon to accept.

For District Attorney, C. P. Vicini seems to have a clear field for re-nomination by the democracy. J. W. Caldwell aspires for the place on the republican ticket, with fair prospects for a friendly verdict at the ballot box.

For County Treasurer, S. G. Spagnoli, republican incumbent, is out for re-nomination. His strength is undiminished by eight years of official service. Democratic aspirants are not elbowing each other to get to this berth. G. A. Gritton, present corner and public administrator, has been switched off to try for it. The announcement of his candidacy appears in our advertising columns. That he has made a creditable record in his present office, and is well qualified for the one for which he now aspires, the Ledger cheerfully concedes. We can only oppose him on party grounds.

For Assemblyman, C. H. McKinney, the popular tailor of Ione, is willing to take up the fight for the republicans. A democratic competitor has not entered for this hope-lure race.

For Supervisor in Township Five Fred B. LeMoin will make the run again if the nomination is tendered him. A. L. Wait has also been mentioned on the republican side. Lawrence Burke has announced himself for the democratic candidate. There were other aspirants of that persuasion, but they appeared to have been thrust aside by the machine. This has kindled not a little hostility. If those outside the district mix up with affairs that do not concern them, there are party men who are inclined to let the outsiders elect the candidate of their choice if they can. R. M. Ford has shied his castor into the arena. He announces himself as an independent candidate. Reuben is a democrat on national issues, but he don't propose to submit to dictation in his own bailiwick by anybody.

But the most sought-after office in the whole category is justice of the peace in township one. Four democratic aspirants are out in the foreground, namely, H. Goldner, J. L. Sargent, J. R. Dick, and R. W. Ketcham. The present incumbent, who has filled the place for so long that the memory of the writer runneth not to the initial point thereof, is apparently slated for a back seat. Against this formidable array James J. Wright announces his candidacy as a republican aspirant in this issue. He is a bright young man, well qualified by education and sound judgment. Every republican in the township ought to vote and work for him. The duties of the office will not interfere with his other business in the least. He has room in his present office in the Spagnoli building for a justice court. He is just the man for the place. His party vote will be sufficient to elect him by a substantial majority.

For constable of township two H. E. Kay has been mentioned, and can no doubt get the republican nomination if he will take it. Should he decline, Frank Goss is willing to make the run. No democrat has hove in sight as yet.

Coroner and Public Administrator—Geo. M. Huberty of Jackson, democrat, is out for this berth. Dr. Freshman, the well-known practicing physician and surgeon of Amador City, and W. E. Roberts of Sutter Creek, are mentioned by republicans.

School Superintendent—George A. Gordon, who has filled the office one term, is the only aspirant of the democracy, and will likely be re-nominated without opposition. Geo. F. Mack, the veteran educator, and who has had experience as the head of the public schools of the county, may be prevailed upon to accept the republican nomination.

For Assessor—Jack Marchant, present county assessor, is the only man mentioned for this place. There are democrats in plenty who would like the job, but they are fearful that they could not command the necessary majority at the ballot-box against the popular and efficient incumbent.

Astounded The Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown of Bennettville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, and eating anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver."

For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at D. B. Spagnoli's.

The board of supervisors will meet in regular session next Monday. This being the last meeting before the conventions meet for the nomination of a county ticket to be voted for at the forthcoming election, any change in the way of separating offices now consolidated must be made at that time in order to be effective for the ensuing term. The offices of Sheriff and Tax Collector ought to be separated. Their united salaries and emoluments, amounting to $8000 per year, is too much to be drawn by one man in a county like Amador. With such a loadstone attached to a position, it is not to be wondered at that an incumbent is determined to hang on until the still voice of the people tells him to give place to another.

What A Tale It Tells.

If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, its liver trouble; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25c at D. B. Spagnoli's drug store.

Nothing will please an invalid as well as a package of those fancy cakes from Camibetti's Mkt.

Letter From Alaska.

PORCUPINE, ALASKA, July 18, 1902.

Editor Ledger:—

We have been having the hottest weather in the history of the district. Three times the mercury has touched 90° in the middle of the day. However the summer rains have now begun, and the weather is perfect. Wild flowers, such as none but Alaskan climate produces, are in profusion wherever there is soil enough to afford a foothold. While their perfume is faint and delicate, the small blossoms have a dainty freshness and a brilliancy of color not found nearer the equator. Today is showery. Temp. 60°. The snow is nearly all gone from the mountain tops and only the glassy glacier still remind us that during the greater part of the year this is the "land of the white silence." Fish, grouse, squirrels and berries are plentiful, and the lazy contentment of the Indians afford such sharp contrast to the peevish restlessness of the white gold seekers, one is almost tempted to get a tub and turn philosopher. Still it must be remembered that Diogenes preferred the city to the wilderness.

July 3d I started on a trip combining business with pleasure. Walked a mile to where Porcupine creek enters the Kliahens river, which is a little larger than the Mokelumne. Two Indians, one with clooch and papoose (wife and baby) surprised us by being ready to start, and at 5 a. m. we seated ourselves in the bottom of a small canoe, and away we went as fast as paddles and the swift current could carry us. The river banks seemed to be playing up stream, and the short bends, floating logs and stranded stumps, kept the Indians on their mette continually. Once the breaking of a paddle made a lively and anxious minute, but no harm resulted. The rocks and pebbles in the river bed made a constant muffled rattling, as if a thousand loads of marbles were being rolled seaward. We came 16 miles in an hour and 40 minutes, to Klukuan, where the Kliahens flows into the Chilcat, and reached Haines, 42 miles from Porcupine, in time for dinner. Here preparations for the 4th were in progress, the Indians taking as much interest as anyone. As there was practically no night, they set off fireworks, Roman candles, rockets, etc., in broad daylight, along with fire-crackers and bombs, and seemed to enjoy it thoroughly. Friday morning I went to Skagway on a small steamer, arriving before noon. Celebration was in full blast, and an excursion train from White Horse had brought 230 of our British cousins to listen to the Declaration of Independence and hear the eagle scream. Along with old glory were flying a great many English flags, and on one staff was a mongrel I did not fancy; viz., the stripes of our flag with the Union Jack in place of the field of stars. However, I suppose it was intended to denote good will. There was the usual program of music, procession, oratory and races, a baseball game between the White Horse & White Pass R. clubs, won by the latter, score 7 to 6, and a "grand ball" at night. I spent three very pleasant days at "Maggie Murphy's Home" and visiting old friends. Skagway is retrograding sadly in a business way, on account of restrictions put upon American trade by the Canadians, while our officials are forbidden to retaliate by strict commands from Washington. Col. Ivey, the man who refused to obey the humiliating orders of Secretary Hay, has been removed, and more than half the stores in Skagway have been closed.

July 7th I left for Juneau and Douglas. On the way I saw a fight between a whale and a thrasher, but did not learn which whipped. Our boat stopped at an iceberg and "quarried off" a lot of ice for home use. Icebergs are broken off pieces of glaciers, which are rivers of ice formed from compressed snow. Juneau is now the leading business point of south eastern Alaska, but Douglas Island, where the Treadwell mines are situated, shows the greatest improvement. Many new buildings are going up, many of them very fine ones. On the 11th I came to Haines by small steamer; on the 12th I had an Indian take me to Klukuan in a small canoe with a sail, and on the 13th walked up the Kliahens on the Canadian trail in company with two old miners. Arriving opposite Porcupine, the rains had raised the river so my companions would not try to cross. With a heavy piece of driftwood on my shoulder to hold me down, I came across, although the water was waist deep and too swift for comfort, but I reached a warm room and good supper, while the other chaps had to remain over night at an Indian fishing camp.

I miss the California fruit, but you would enjoy our summer days where the mercury ranging from 50 to 70. Can't have all the good things in one place.

Yours,

C. H. G.

Old dynamite is always rather more dangerous than fresh dynamite, however well it may have been kept. The reasons for this are (1) the least impurity left in the nitroglycerine (the essential constituent of dynamite) may in course of time generate a dangerous compound; (2) the nitroglycerine tends to crystallize, and in this condition nitroglycerine is very subject to shock or rubbing. Therefore in using dynamite always completely consume the old stock before breaking into the new supply.—Mining and Engineering Review.

The railroad bridges crossing Sutter and Dry creeks below Ione are being rebuilt in a substantial manner. Forty men are at work on these two structures. Work has been in progress for several weeks, and it will take a month or more to complete them. Massive concrete piers are in process of construction at each place.

A party composed of Mrs. W. O. Green, Mrs. Geo. Huberty and children, Miss Della Burbank and Miss Hazel Green left Monday morning for Pacific Grove to spend a month at that well-known summer resort. The affairs of the Herald were somewhat mixed-up last Saturday. It was publication day. The forms were sent to press at the Dispatch office as usual, but not printed and delivered with customary celerity. The difficulty was of a financial nature. The Dispatch man had a bill of something like $6 against the Herald man, and refused to deliver the edition until the claim was settled with coin. This cornered the Herald manager effectually. There is nothing in his establishment with which to print a newspaper. After considerable maneuvering the legal tender was dug up from somewhere, and that part of the trouble settled. Then a fresh and more formidable claim clamored for recognition. The Herald owed W. R. Selkirk about $14 for wages. So a sort of understanding was made with the Dispatch that the papers were to be held by the printer until this little bill was also liquidated. To tangle up this, however, was not an easy matter. Twenty dollars is a big sum to a man up a tree. Finally, an attorney was consulted, who finding that no suit had been commenced or attachment levied, ordered the Dispatch man to fulfil his obligation to print the papers, and deliver them to the proper party. This injunction was obeyed, and the wage matter is still unsettled; but the wage-earner concluded to take a holiday as far as the Herald is concerned, until this money consideration is straightened out.

We have received a communication from Mrs. Miriam Manley, wife of Ed Manley, who was so seriously injured by a blow on the head with a baseball club in the hands of Abe Baumgart in Rosewald and Kahn's store some time ago. The communication relates to the proceedings in connection with the preliminary examination of Baumgart for the assault, which resulted in his discharge, for the reason that the injured man declined to prosecute. We stated in our report of the failure of the prosecution, that Manley admitted that he was somewhat to blame therein, by using improper language. Mrs. Manley says this is wrong; that he never admitted he was blameable in any way. We are pleased to make the correction.

We must, however, decline to publish the letter in full, or give publicity to the statements therein contained, notwithstanding the signature of the writer is appended thereto. To do so we would render ourselves liable for prosecution for libel, and the onus would be thrown upon us of proving the truth of the statements, which we are not prepared to do. The letter admits that $150 was paid to Ed Manley by Baumgart to settle the affair; both criminally and civilly. In consideration of this Manley refused to open his mouth in testifying against the assault. This is termed a compromise of the case—in other words compounding a felony—a grave crime in itself under the laws of California. If Mrs. Manley's statements are true the matter ought to be presented before the next grand jury. Not only the principals in this money deal, but all who are alleged to have been instrumental in bringing it about, ought to be prosecuted. In saying that Manley admitted some blame we thought we were placing the most favorable construction possible upon his action in refusing to prosecute. We had heard the reports of the financial deal, but kept them out of print for obvious reasons. Now, the statement comes from headquarters. Surely, it calls for action by the district attorney. This crime, if the story is true, has become double-headed, and now involves two persons at least, and more if our correspondent's letter is correct. It shows a deplorable state of affairs if the settlement of this assault case is permitted to pass without judicial investigation. We shall preserve our correspondent's letter for reference.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR VOLCANO.

Louis Grillo Thrown From His Horse and Instantly Killed.

A sad accident occurred near Volcano on Friday afternoon, resulting in the death of Louis Grillo, the youngest son of the well-known Grillo family of Volcano. The victim at the time of the accident was engaged in driving some cattle from the ranch of Frank Blakely, near Pine Grove, to Volcano. There were eight head of cattle, and Frank Blakely and Gus Grillo were also driving the band. At what is known as the Boardman grade, Louis started at high speed to head off the cattle from the Stony Point road. This was the last seen of him alive by his companions. A great cloud of dust was shortly after observed in the road some distance ahead, and reaching the spot Gus Grillo saw his younger brother lying in the roadway, the horse standing close by. He called to him, but receiving no answer, he dismounted, and found that he was hurt, and unconscious. Mrs. Laura de Foree Gordon happened to be passing as the two cattle men reached the spot. A slight examination sufficed to show that the boy was seriously injured. He was carried to the near-by dwelling of Mr. Grasso, while Mr. Blakely hurried to Volcano to summon a doctor. The resident doctor was on a call in the country, so Dr. Endicott was sent for from Jackson, and at once started for the scene, but on arrival at Pine Grove was notified of the death of the victim.

How the affair occurred is not clear, as there was no eye witness, and the victim never recovered consciousness to tell the story. There is no doubt that the horse either stumbled or fell, throwing young Grillo on his head, the horse probably falling on him. His skull was crushed in, and his body after death was discolored about the waist, which was thought to be due to the horse falling upon him. Death was almost instantaneous. Deceased was fourteen years of age.

Our correspondent at Volcano sends us the following additional particulars: The body was moved to Mr. Grasso's house near by, where his married brother John resides. He never opened his eyes nor regained consciousness, and expired in less than an hour from the time the accident occurred. All the family were present with the exception of his brother Frank, who was in San Francisco, and returned home the next day, summoned by telephone; and his sister Mary, who was attending a Native Daughter's installation in Sutter, and came home the same evening. As the sad news became known it caused great depression, and the deepest sympathy was expressed on all sides for the bereaved family.

The funeral took place Sunday morning at ten o'clock, and was very largely attended by people from all over the county. The Catholic church was crowded to overflowing, many not being able to gain admittance. Rev. W. Maloney of Sutter Creek officiated. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Louis, who had only reached the age of fourteen years, will be greatly missed by all who knew him. He was a bright and accommodating little fellow, always willing to do anything you asked of him. To know him was to be his friend. GRANDAD.

A Curiosity.

We were shown this week a child's rocking chair, made entirely of one piece of wood, and a scantling at that. It is just as perfect and symmetrical in its construction as any similar piece of furniture turned out by the factories. It is not of the rustic order, but nicely smoothed and finished. It was the workmanship of Bob Rodgers of Rancheria, who took the notion into his head over a year ago. He sent for a stick of hickory from Missouri for this express purpose, and by steaming it made it sufficiently pliable to be bent to proper shape. Even the cross-bars are part and parcel of the piece that constitutes the main framework. The only separate pieces, fastened by screws to the frame, are the slats that form the seat. It is really a marvelous specimen of handicraft, and stronger and better in every way than if made of independent pieces. The maker of this chair has since died, and G. A. Gritton and J. Keffer are now in possession of it. They brought it to Jackson Monday morning to Garbarini Bros., the machinists, who think of trying their skill in fashioning a similar article in like manner. At first it might be thought that to construct out of one piece might involve much more time and labor than by the usual method; but this we are informed is not the case. It is probable that in quantity chairs could be manufactured according to this pattern cheaper and quicker than by the old process, and certainly they would be preferable in point of strength.

A Prisoner Escapes.

Frank Manning and another prisoner from Sutter Creek were set to work yesterday to cut wood in the rear of the court house. Manning was sentenced to five months on two charges of assault upon Charley Reynolds and J. W. Craighead. He had about four months to serve. We are informed that the woodpile they were operating upon was not the county's wood. If this be so they were not engaged in work for the county. The four-foot leave-taking was known in a few use of county officials is not usually reduced to servicable lengths by prison labor. The two men were being watched by under-sheriff Podesta. About 5 o'clock Manning ceased work for a few moments, on some excuse, which did not arouse suspicion. Failing to return in reasonable time, it was discovered that he had skipped. He was seen running by residents of the eastern part of town, up the middle fork of Jackson creek like a greyhound. He evidently got into the timber belt close to town, and made good his escape. His unceremonious leave-taking was known in a few minutes, and a search was at once instituted, but without avail. Up to this morning the man had not been found. Altogether this is about the neatest and cleanest escape that the very eyes of watching officials, that has been made in Amador county for a number of years.

Democratic Call For Convention.

The democratic county central committee met in Jackson on Saturday last. There was a full attendance. They decided to call a county convention to meet in Sutter Creek, on August 23, for the selection of delegates to state convention, and the nomination of a full county ticket; primaries for the election of delegates to said county convention will be held in the respective precincts on August 12—the same evening as has been set for republican primaries. The apportionment of delegates was made on the basis of one delegate for every 20 votes cast at the presidential election of 1900 and a delegate for every fraction of 20. According to this apportionment the democratic convention will consist of 71 delegates—two more than the number allotted to the republican body. It may appear inexplicable to some that the republicans with a majority of over 150, should be outnumbered in county convention by their opponents on a similar basis. This, however, is explained by the fractional representation. The republicans have allowed a delegate for each fraction of 10 or over, whereas the democrats give a delegate for each fraction of 20, whether more or less than half. For instance, a precinct casting 41 votes would be entitled to 2 delegates under the republican call, and three under the democratic method of apportionment.

Quite a discussion arose over the place for holding the convention. Ione made a bid for it, and urged its claim on the ground that it was the banner democratic town, with 40 majority. The claims of Jackson were also pressed on the ground of its large population, central position, and precedent. Sutter Creek finally carried off the honor as a compromise, and being an equally central position.

A TERRIBLE FALL.

Peter Carpo Falls 70 Feet in Oneida Mine—Probably Fatally Hurt.

Peter Carpo, an Austrian 20 years of age, met with an accident in the Oneida mine last Friday, that will be likely to cost him his life. He was working in the stope, and in some unexplained manner fell to the bottom, a distance of 60 or 70 feet. He was badly bruised in several places, but the most serious injury was on the left side of the head just above the ear, where the skull was fractured, the broken bone pressing upon the brain. When assistance reached him he was unconscious. He was removed to the residence of Mr. Savich on Broadway, and Dr. Gall was summoned. He at once realized that it was a desperate case, and that to afford any hope of recovery an operation would be necessary to relieve the pressure on the brain. Accordingly on Saturday morning Drs. Gall and Endicott removed that portion of the fractured skull that was pressing on the brain matter. A number of pieces were successfully removed, leaving a hole in the skull between 1½ and two inches in diameter. The patient up to this time had been oblivious of everything. As soon as the brain was relieved he opened his eyes, and appeared to hear and understand when spoken to, although unable to talk. A portion of the brain oozed from the opening in the skull, which imparts a still graver aspect to the case.

The victim died Tuesday night. When it was found that the brain matter was involved there was little hope of recovery. The funeral took place to-day, the remains being buried in the Greek Church cemetery.

Attached.

The saloon and boarding house at the old toll house, kept by L. Bagneschi, was attached last Wednesday for a debt of $110 owing to J. C. Krennel. Bagneschi left for parts unknown several days before, and this brought the creditors to the front in an endeavor to get their dues by process of law. When things were sifted to bedrock, it was found that there was little property subject to attachment, as the bankrupt before his exit had given a bill of sale covering nearly everything in the place to Ginochio Bros. to cover their claim. A barrel of whisky, a lot of empty barrels, stove, and other articles were correlated, and brought to town, preparatory to being auctioned. Against this a labor claim for $40 has been filed with the constable, which takes precedence of the attaching creditor's bill. Mrs. Bagneschi is carrying on the boarding house, etc. The bakery is being conducted by the hired baker, who is running the concern in the hope of thereby collecting his wages. He has cut out a hard task for himself, making bread, delivering it to customers, and collecting the money all by himself. It is the only way in sight for straightening out the wage question, and he proposes to follow it until the account is balanced.

His Sight Threatened.

"While picnicking last month my 11-year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sutter City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison on his hands into his eyes and for awhile we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days he was as well as ever."

For skin diseases, cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, insect bites, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is sure cure. Relieves piles at once. Beware of counterfeits. Kerr's Pharmacy, Jackson.

THEY WANTED A QUIET WEDDING.

The Outcome of a Short Acquaintance in Jackson.

We take the following account of the marriage of N. R. Cooper and Miss Maud I. Kriebbaum from the Stockton Record of July 25. The young lady, prior to her departure for the wedding ceremony, had been a resident of Jackson for two months, residing with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Quirrol. She is the daughter of Dr. Kriebbaum, a prominent dentist of Los Angeles. About three weeks ago she met N. R. Cooper, the hero of this social romance, in Jackson, and the casual introduction rapidly developed into a love affair. Miss Kriebbaum left Jackson Thursday morning, and her friends and relatives here were surprised to learn of her marriage a couple of days thereafter. The Record says: A marriage, behind which it is suspected there may be a most interesting romance, took place this morning in the parlors of the Yosemite Hotel, Justice Parker officiating.

The groom is Noah Raymond Cooper, aged 23, of this city, and the bride was Miss Maud Irene Kriebbaum, an unusually pretty young lady of twenty summers, and from Los Angeles.

The anxiety of Mr. Cooper to keep the marriage out of the local papers has given rise to the rumor that there is a story behind the ceremony of unusual interest.

Mr. Cooper has been a resident of this city for some three months. He is an agent of the Remington Typewriter people. This morning he appeared at the county clerk's office and requested a marriage license. He stated that the license must be kept out of the local papers until to-morrow evening. The deputy clearly informed him that the license stub was a public record and that the newspaper men were entitled to use the facts. Cooper was asked his reason for wanting the matter kept secret and he said that he did not want Miss Kriebbaum's parents to learn of the wedding. He said that he would not be married until to-morrow morning. Shortly after the Justice Parker was summoned to the Yosemite hotel and asked to marry the couple.

Miss Kriebbaum was a young lady of unusual beauty and was elegantly gowned. The wedding was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Popo of the hotel.

It was rumored about the hotel that the bride was the daughter of very wealthy parents in Los Angeles.

Cooper's actions threw quite an air of mystery about the affair. Whether or not there is anything in the rumors does not affect the fact that Cooper has secured a bewitchingly pretty and attractive young lady for a wife. Perhaps the young couple intend to go on a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles and surprise Papa and Mamma Kriebbaum. May they be received with blessings.

MINING NEWS.

AMADOR PHOENIX.—The directors held a meeting last Saturday, also on Monday, at which it was decided to continue operations as at present. An extension of the bond on the property for six months has also been secured.

SARGENT.—The contractors started upon their contract to sink 300 feet on Monday morning. The shaft is an incline, following the ledge, and at present in soft slate and gouge. They expect to make rapid progress. Should they encounter hard rock or water that would make it impossible to earn reasonable wages, they reserve the right to surrender the contract.

ARGONAUT.—At this mine they are doing some work in the shaft to secure it against damage by water. This work will be completed in two or three days more. The last crushing of rock from the Hoffman ground yielded better than any ore heretofore taken from this claim—averaging about $10 per ton. This ore was taken from the extreme southern point of the drift at the 1400 level, and above the drift. The inference to be drawn from this fact is that the ore body will probably continue to improve further south. Prospecting operations have ceased, and the water in the shaft has risen to this 1400 drift. No effort is being made to keep the mine free of water. When the shaft work is finished, it is expected that all work will cease pending the decision by the United States supreme court of the Argonaut-Kennedy suit.

ONEIDA.—It is currently reported that this mine is improving. The last clean-up left a balance of something like $8000 after deducting running expenses. Forty stamps are kept running, and the outlook seems brighter than at any time since the present company took hold.

JACKSON VALLEY COAL.—At Garbarini Bro's. machine shop on Water street they have been using, for steam purposes only, coal from the mine on the Fitzsimmons ranch in Jackson valley. The coal is delivered in Jackson for $3.75 per ton. It burns freely, requires no mixing of other coal, and is found to be a cheaper fuel than either wood or hard coal. It is of superior quality to the coal found near Ione. The vein is said to be 12 feet thick; its width we have not learned. There is a large coal area in that vicinity, although little is being done in the way of mining it. Distance from railroad is the main obstacle to the development of this industry. Jackson is the only town of any size whose trade can be successfully competed for.

NEVERWEAT.—This mine is situated on the eastern slope of Butte mountain, and is owned by J. D. Nuner of the Central hotel. He has taken out considerable gold from small strata of decomposed quartz met with near the surface. A shaft was sunk years ago to the depth of 80 feet, following the ledge, and showing slate for hanging wall and gouge on footwall. A tunnel has been driven into the mountain to tap the ledge. This tunnel is in 200 feet, with 200 feet still to go to reach the vein. Last week he started four men to work in cleaning out and timbering the tunnel, with the intention of driving the tunnel to the ledge. The lode runs nearly north and south, and the same as the main belt, although fully a mile east of the mother lode.

THE TRAMP'S PARLOR CAR.

A Pre-empted Home From Which He Is Often Dislodged.
A casual observer might wonder why the rods bolted through the timbers at either end are placed under freight cars. They are not put there for hoboes to ride on, but to stiffen the floor of the car. Sometimes there are four, two close together on each side, but more often there are six, separated by equal distances.

At the center, where the rods are ridden, there is often room between them and the bottom of the car for a man to sit almost upright, though with his head bowed forward, but where there are six rods the hobo usually lies across them like a steak on a gridiron. While the train is moving slowly it is easy as a rule to drive him off by throwing coal or rocks at him. If it is going very fast, there is danger of killing him, and that is likely to get the brakeman in trouble (from ten years to life is customary).

There is one other way of removing a hobo from the rods under a freight, but the brakeman must be a man of steady nerve, quickness and physical strength; also he must know exactly where the hobo is before he comes off the top to get him. Dropping from the train a car or two ahead of the one under which the man is riding, the brakeman has time to brace himself before that car reaches him (the train should be moving only slowly); then he seizes the hobo by the coat collar or by his arms. The motion of the train does the rest, and the hobo is dropped on the ground. —Leslie's Weekly.

Purpose For Plaster Patches.
Plaster patches were introduced in England in the reign of Edward VI. by a foreign lady who in this manner ingeniously concealed a wen on her neck. They became such a craze and were carried to such exaggerated lengths that they were finally lampooned out of sight. The men, as well as the women, stuck themselves over with these beauty spots. No lady of fashion considered her let complete until she was equipped with her little box of patches cut in her favorite design. If one happened to come off in company, she hurriedly replaced it with a fresh one from the box.

At length patching in England went so far that party spirit was symbolized by the position of the patches. A letter in the paper on June 2, 1711, tells of a visit to the Haymarket and the discovery by the writer that three elegant women in the boxes all differently patched. Upon inquiry he discovered that those who patched on the right side of the forehead were Whigs and those who favored the left were Tories, while those who patched indifferently on either side were a neutral party, whose faces had not yet declared themselves.—Harper's Weekly.

Augustin Daly's Wit.
An actor who knew Augustin Daly well told this story of the great theatrical manager's ready wit:

"We both chanced to be depositors in and victims of a bank which suspended payment. Like others, when the news of the disaster became known we hurried off to the bank to pick up what information we could, and coming down the steps from the offices into the street Mr. Daly's coachman, in a moment, and with some difficulty, he managed to save himself from falling. I was entering the building, and, seeing the mishap, I ran up, saying: "I hope you have not hurt yourself." "Oh, no; thank you," he replied. "I only lost my balance."

The Skin of My Teeth.
In the book of Job appears the sentence, "I am encased with the skin of my teeth," which is modernized "by the skin of my teeth" and gives the idea of a narrow escape, one so close as to be just by the thickness of the skin on the teeth, which is so thin that no microscope has yet been able to find it. "To cast in the teeth" means to throw defiant reproaches or insults spitefully, as one would cast a stone at the exposed teeth of a snarling dog. "Tooth and nail" denotes the manner of an action full of frenzied fury, typified by biting and scratching, as when two belligerent cats make the fur fly.

A Diligent Police Official.
A man who was "wanted" in Russia had been photographed in six different positions, and the pictures were duly circulated among the police departments.

The chief of one of these wrote to headquarters a few days after the issue of the set of portraits and stated: "Sir, I have duly received the portrait of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them, and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."

MISSED THE PARTY.

Why One Girl Had to Keep Secluded For Over a Week.

They were two pretty girls, and when they happened to meet on one of the quiet streets of the city the girl in gray turned and walked in the direction the other one had taken.

"Now, let me know all about the party," said the one who had turned. "I've been just dying to see you and have you tell me."

"Oh, but I wasn't there at all," said her companion. "This is the first time I've been out of the house for more than a week."

"Why, have you been ill?" her friend inquired, surprised and solicitous.

"No, I really think it was worse than that," she replied.

"You know I'm a little proud of my hair for its my one redeeming point," modestly—"and because it is naturally wavy it is always fluffed after it has been shampooed."

"A day or two before the party I washed my hair, using what I thought was borax in the water. When I attempted to dry my erstwhile 'bonnie brown curls' they were stringy and hard and looked as if they had been frozen in wisps. Then to my horror I discovered that I had used powdered alum in the water. It took me a whole week to get it out of my hair. I missed the party. I had set my heart upon attending and wouldn't let any of my friends see me, for I was a perfect fright!"—Duluth News-Tribune.

Sins of the Tongue.

The sins of the tongue all point to the necessity and profit of self mastery. There is danger in the tongue that often brings the deepest sorrow to innocent ones, as well as throws a reflection on a pure character. If this confession of failure and magnifying of the tongue seem exaggerated, let any one sit down quietly and think of the sins and cruelties of human speech. The careless words which no repentance can call back again, the rash promises which it has cost so much to fulfill, the expression of the lower nature which has shamed the higher, the confessions of evil and yielding to falsehood, the hot and angry words which sober thought condemn—these are some of the perils of the tongue. On the other hand, like most of the uses of the world which turn so easily to evil, the tongue may be the instrument of great and lasting good.

A Rejected Novel.

Before he had achieved fame the French novelist Xavier de Montepin, on concluding a long and elaborate tale of adventure took it, full of hope, to a publisher, who promptly declined it on even the most advantageous terms. Twenty years afterward this identical publisher besought at his hands a sensational story, one of those serials which were the delight of gossips, offering him a price within reason. "Well," said de Montepin, "I will oblige you, but my terms must be somewhat heavy, I want $4,000." After many protests it was paid.

In telling the story de Montepin used to add, "The best of the business was that it was the very same story which I had previously rejected and which I had in various directions endeavored in vain to dispose of."

A Curious Tree.

There is a peculiar tree in the forests of central America which has most curious characteristics. The leaves of the tree are of a highly sensitive nature and so full of electricity that whoever touches one of them receives an electric shock. It has a very singular effect upon a magnetic needle and will influence it at a distance of even seventy feet. The electrical strength of the tree varies according to the time of day, it being strongest at midday and weakest at midnight. In wet weather its powers disappear altogether. Birds never approach the tree nor have insects ever been seen upon it.

Wanted All Good People Nice.

Those who have complained that virtue is uninteresting have usually been branded as cynics or, worse, as people trying to be clever. To all such this true story of a little girl may come as consolation, for "out of the mouths" etc.

Little Alice had been put to bed and told to say her prayers. "O God," she prayed, "make all the bad people good and make all the good people—all the good people—all the good people—nice!"—New York Tribune.

Cruel Blow.

"Are you aware of the fact," remarked Miss Cutting, "that I am a mind reader?"

"No," answered young Softledge. "You are—object to wearing my mind, don't you?"

"Certainly not," she replied. "Bring it with you the next time you call."—Chicago News.

He Needed the Money.

"Will you please raise my salary?" "Why, I gave you a raise only last week because you told me that you had known my mother got married, and now I have two to support."—Ohio State Journal.

SHE DROPPED IT.

The Story of a Visitor, a Parrot and a Costly Vase.

A story is told wherein figure two well known Columbus ladies and a parrot. Mrs. A. paid a special call at the home of Mrs. B. the other day and was ushered into the living room by the maid of all work to await the appearance of Mrs. B.

Mrs. B. had come into possession of a parrot only a short time before and had been keeping the bird in the living room. Polly has a very good command of English and appears to know when to use it. Mrs. A. sat down with her back to the bird without noticing it, and as Polly made no sound she remained in ignorance of its presence.

Observing a beautiful vase on the mantel, Mrs. A. arose from her seat and, crossing the floor, took down the dainty piece of bric-a-brac to examine it. She gazed on it rapturously, completely absorbed by its elegant decorations, when suddenly from just behind her came the shrill and stern command:

"Drop it! Drop it!"

Mrs. A. obeyed and turned, with a scream, to face the imperturbable gaze of Polly, who sat in her cage with her green head slyly perked to one side. On the floor lay the beautiful vase smashed to bits. At this most embarrassing moment Mrs. B. entered the room. Before Mrs. A. could explain the situation Polly shook out her feathers and remarked:

"You're it! You're it! You're it!"—Ohio State Journal.

How Vaccine Virus Is Obtained.

The preparation used to produce what we call "vaccination" is known among medical men as vaccine virus, to produce which it is necessary to go through a surgical operation, the subject being a young cow or even a calf. After scarifying the belly of the animal, the parts having previously been shaved, the wound is inoculated with virus from an animal already in use. A sore is thus formed without lasting injury to the beast, and after a week or ten days a thin vaccine matter begins to flow from the abrasion. This pus or matter is the vaccine virus of commerce.

Goose quills which have been scraped with a knife until they present a rough exterior are rubbed in this virus. The virus from one abrasion is sufficient to coat 10,000 quills, which after being so prepared are technically called "points." These points when ready for shipment look very much like ordinary goose quills, the virus coating not being visible to the naked eye.

Buying of Wives.

Wives are still obtained by purchase in parts of Russian Europe. In the district of Kamyschin, on the Volga, for example, this is practically the only way in which marriages are brought about. The price of a pretty girl from a well to do family ranges from $10 to $20, and in special cases a much higher sum is obtained. In the villages the lowest price is about $5. It is customary for the fathers of the intending bride and bridegroom to haggle for a long time over the price to be paid for the lady. A young farmer whose father cannot afford to pay for a wife for him need not think of getting married. —London Chronicle.

Acids and Ink Spots.

Nearly all the acids remove spots of ink from paper, but it is important to use such as least attack its tissue. Spirits of salts diluted in five times or six times the quantity of water may be applied with success upon the spot and after a minute or two washed off with clear water. A solution of oxalic acid, citric acid or tartaric acid is attended with the least risk and may be applied upon the paper or plates without fear of damage. These acids, taking out writing ink and not touching the printing, can be used for restoring books where the margins have been written upon without attacking the text.

He Blundered.

"How long," asked the youth, "ought a young man to be acquainted with a girl, Miss Fyffe, before he may venture to call her by her first name?"

"How long have you known me?" she asked in turn.

"About six months."

"Well, if he's the right young man, that's a long enough time."

"Then, Susie?"

"But you're not the right young man, Mr. Spoonamore."—Chicago Tribune.

A Genius.

"There goes a great genius!" exclaimed the Georgia citizen as a tall figure slouched by.

"Novelist?"

"No, but he reads all the novels the other fellows write."

"You call that 'genius'?"

"Well, if it ain't exactly genius it's the patience of it."—Atlanta Constitution.

Density and Rarity of Air.

If a well could be dug to the depth of forty-six miles, the density of the air at the bottom would be as great as that of quicksilver. By the same law a cubic inch of air taken 4,000 miles above the earth's surface would expand sufficiently to fill a sphere 2,000,000 miles in diameter.

He Enjoys It.

Borem—You can't find a man any where who enjoys a joke better than I do.

Elkins—Guess that's right. I've heard you tell the same old joke twenty times, and you laughed every time you told it.—Chicago News.

MOTHERHOOD

The greatest ambition of American men and women is to have homes blessed with children. The woman afflicted with female disease is constantly menaced with becoming a childless wife. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception; does prevent miscarriage; does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Wine of Cardui gives women the health and strength to bear healthy children. You can get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer.

WINE OF CARDUI

143 Market Street, Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901. In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Theodore's Black-Drageat. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 21, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will again. Mrs. J. C. KUTNER.
